Directions to the Duke Sociology-Psychology Building from UNC

1. Start at the Duke-UNC Robertson Express Bus stop is located at the Moorehead Planetarium parking lot right outside of Graham Memorial off West Franklin Street (the bus ride is about 20-25 minutes so plan your time accordingly).
2. The bus will drop you off at Duke's West Campus Bus Stop. Take a right turn when you get off the bus, and walk along the path that enters the right portion of the Academic Quad.
3. You will pass the Allen Building on your right, followed by the Social Sciences Building. Continue walking straight until you hit a small set of stairs. The building directly to your right is the Sociology Psychology Building.
4. If you go up the steps, the main entrance to the building is on the right. You will enter on the first floor, and need to take a left to the end of the hallway.
5. At the end of the hallway you will find a set of stairs. Take them all the way down to the ground level floor.
6. Take your first left at the bottom of the stairs, and go through the door at the end of the short hallway. The lab (room 07) will be the second door on your right. Please meet the experimenter here.
